

Bryan D. FARNSWORTH
Vice President of Quality Management
HORMEL FOODS, USA

With 27 years of experience at Hormel Foods, Bryan D. Farnsworth has been involved in all aspects of quality control within the company and has developed a strong vision for the role of quality management within the organization. As vice president of quality management for Hormel Foods, he is responsible for overseeing company quality, plant regulatory and food safety activities. In this role, Farnsworth spearheads the company's continuous improvement initiatives, including Six Sigma.

Farnsworth graduated from Western Michigan University with a bachelor of science degree in manufacturing administration and is a graduate of the University of Minnesota Carlson School of Management Executive Program.

Farnsworth is very active with the American Meat Institute (AMI), serving as a member and former chairman of the AMI Inspection Committee. He is an adviser member of the Global Food Safety Initiative (GFSI) Foundation Board. Farnsworth is also a member of the Food Processors Association, where he sits on the Meat and Poultry Products Committee, and is a member of the American Society for Quality.

HORMEL FOODS

Hormel Foods Corporation, based in Austin, Minn., is a multinational manufacturer and marketer of consumer-branded food and meat products, many of which are among the best known and trusted in the food industry. The company leverages its extensive expertise, innovation and high competencies in pork and turkey processing and marketing to bring quality, value-added brands to the global marketplace. The company enjoys a strong reputation among consumers, retail grocers, foodservice and industrial customers for products highly regarded for quality, taste, nutrition, convenience and value. For more information, visit www.hormelfoods.com.

